

Train any place, anywhere

for free with eLearning

eLearning is an effective, efficient, and flexible way to prepare for tomorrow, on your own time, from wherever you please. After all, uncertain times won't last forever.

At IATA Training, we stand hand-in-hand with over 100,000 aviation and airline professionals each year, training them for the next step in their careers. Today's reality is remarkably different than anything we've faced before, but presents a unique opportunity.

With conventional classroom training not being accessible in times like these, eLearning helps close the gap. To help you get started, we're providing a selection of our eLearning courses at zero cost.

How it works:

Go to www.iata.org/training-staystrong before 27 April and choose one of our popular elearning courses that are part of this program. And hurry, we can only make 5,000 licenses available free of charge.
