Austria's very best young professionals proudly represent the nation as "Team Austria" every year at the WorldSkills and EuroSkills competitions, with top performances.

SkillsAustria attaches great importance to the targeted professional and mental preparation of the selected participants for the international competitions. The winners of AustrianSkills are therefore not automatically nominated for EuroSkills and WorldSkills.

Once the participants of Team Austria have been determined, extensive training for the young professionals begins:

- Experts with extensive experience assist participants in the specialist preparation for the international competitions. Together with their participants, the experts develop tailor-made training plans with regard to the requirements of the international vocational championships.
- As a national team, they undergo special training sessions and team coaching for optimal mental and group dynamic preparation for the competition.
- Coaching and support from team supervisors before and during the competition.

Under the motto "Everyone fights for themselves, but together we are a team", Austria always leaves a lasting, positive impression.
