

6 months GDPR First Lessons Learned

Austrian Business Circle

TaylorWessing

Private and Confidential

Prague, 20.11.2018
Mgr. Karin Pomaizlová

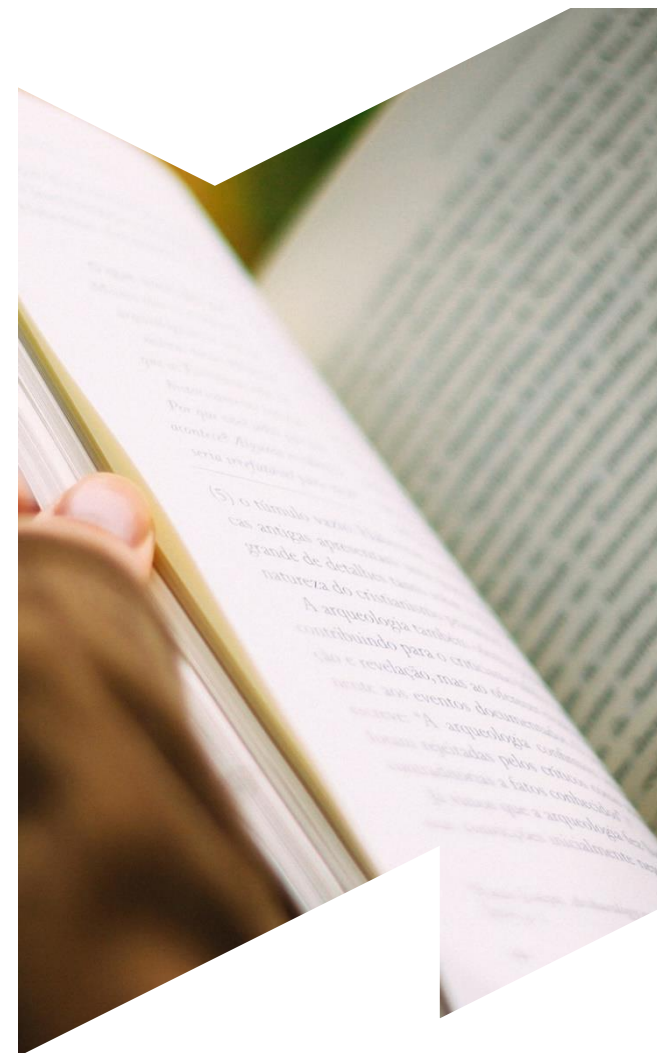

Main observations

- ▶ Concepts of GDPR and data privacy not that easy to comprehend:
 - > Personal data – when data become personal data
 - > Consent – not free, not necessary
 - > Records (Article 30) - still in progress
 - > Privacy Policies - too general and vague
 - > Privacy in Medical Care – still a fiction
 - > Data Security Risks - underestimated

Mgr. Karin Pomaizlová
Partner, Taylor Wessing Praha
k.pomaizlova@taylorwessing.com

TaylorWessing

Europe > Middle East > Asia

taylorwessing.com

© Taylor Wessing 2018

This publication is intended for general guidance and to highlight issues. It is not intended to apply to specific circumstances or to constitute legal advice. Taylor Wessing's International offices operate as one firm but are established as distinct legal entities. For further information about our offices and the regulatory regimes that apply to them, please refer to www.taylorwessing.com/regulatory.html